About the Business ⓘ

- Amaltas University is a UGC-recognised health sciences university located in Dewas, Madhya Pradesh, founded in 2016 by the Amaltas Education Welfare Society.
- The university spans six institutions offering programmes in MBBS, BAMS, BHMS, B.Sc Nursing, B.Pharm, and paramedical sciences, all anchored by a 1500+ bed teaching superspeciality hospital.
- Its mission is to deliver accessible, community-rooted medical education to students and families in the heart of India.

Key Features ⓘ

- Hospital-embedded learning: Students train in a live superspeciality hospital from year one, gaining real clinical exposure with real patients.
- Multi-disciplinary programmes: Six institutions cover modern and traditional healthcare disciplines all within one integrated campus.
- Recognised and accredited: All programmes are structured to national regulatory standards set by bodies governing each health discipline.
- Scholarships and financial aid: Merit and need-based scholarships ensure talented students are not excluded due to financial barriers.
- Research and academic events: The university hosts international conferences, Ph.D. programmes, and research initiatives across medical and health sciences.

Competitive Advantage ⓘ

Amaltas University integrates a live 1500+ bed superspeciality hospital directly into its campus, giving students across all health disciplines real clinical experience from day one — something few health universities in central India offer at this scale.

Target Customers ⓘ

- Aspiring MBBS students from Madhya Pradesh and central India seeking quality medical education with hands-on hospital training from early in their programme.
- Students interested in traditional medicine systems like Ayurveda (BAMS) or Homoeopathy (BHMS) who want a nationally accredited degree with modern facilities.
- Nursing aspirants looking for a structured B.Sc Nursing programme with clinical exposure in a large teaching hospital and a strong professional community.
- Pharmacy and paramedical science students who want industry-relevant, regulation-compliant education close to home in a growing health sciences ecosystem.
- Postgraduate and Ph.D. researchers in medical, nursing, or pharmacy fields seeking an active academic environment with research infrastructure and clinical resources.
